Biography of Dr. Marcus Bendickson

Dr. Marcus Bendickson was named Professional of the Year in 2002 by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE). He was inducted into the Alabama Engineering Hall of Fame in 2007, and the Alabama Business Hall of Fame in 2020. Marc Bendickson began his career working for Bell Laboratories and Teledyne Brown, then became an early employee of Dynetics, Inc., in Huntsville working as a radar systems engineer. As CEO of Dynetics, he grew the company into the second-largest employee-owned firm in Alabama. Dr. Bendickson is involved in several organizations serving the Huntsville area, including leadership on the board of directors for the Alabama Policy Institute Advisory Board, the Huntsville Enrichment Center, and the Hudson Alpha Foundation. He also serves as vice-chair of the UAH Foundation Board of Trustees. Dr. Bendickson strives to pour his leadership abilities and passion for technology and innovation into his newest pursuit, the Museum of Information Explosion.